

Forecasting the Future of Higher Ed

Planning in higher education has long relied on prior-year numbers and multiyear investments in new initiatives. But with a future that looks so different from the past, institutions need to look elsewhere to forecast accurately. Watch this webinar to learn how campus leaders are using near-term scenarios to better forecast during these uncertain times.