

Building a resilient supply chain to drive agility

Supply chains are being disrupted by shifting consumer and retail demand, forcing consumer goods and manufacturing companies to pivot faster than ever.

The businesses that survive are those that leverage real-time data from connected systems across their supply chain systems and eliminate manual reporting — because business decisions can't wait.

In this webinar you will learn:

How API-led connectivity increases supply chain visibility.

How to reduce time to market by onboarding suppliers quickly and securely.

About a MuleSoft customer implementation example that improved production delays.
