

Navigating Unfamiliar Legal Matters with Confidence

How small business attorneys can deliver sound guidance as they successfully manage a never-ending, always changing workload

As generalists, in-house counsel face many and diverse challenges in their workday, so they are frequently navigating numerous issues that make up unfamiliar ground. These include:

- Having to understand multiple areas of law
- The need to understand and align with other functions of the business
- Doing more with less and more
- Facing unprecedented legal challenges
- Rising political tensions and social unrest

In this whitepaper, these challenges are discussed, and solutions are offered.