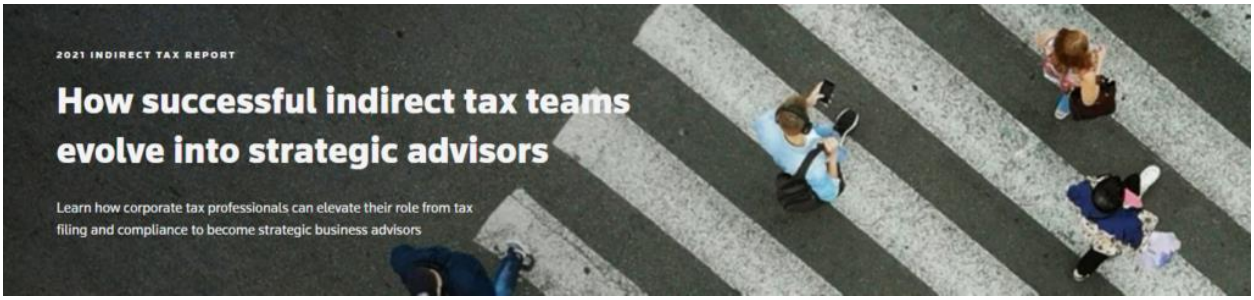
How successful indirect tax teams evolve into strategic advisors



Earlier this year, we surveyed 800+ corporate tax professionals and published the findings in our 2021 State of the Corporate Tax Department report. Several key findings emerged in indirect tax. Most notably, 57% of respondents anticipated significant government change in terms of digital filing or real-time reporting, and 80% expected to face serious challenges with people, processes, and technology.