

3 Key Takeaways for Modernizing Data Integration & Management

There are many routes you can take when it comes to your data strategy: AI, automation, analytics, multi-cloud/hybrid data stacks, the list goes on. In a world where your data strategy can either make or break your business, you want to prioritize right.

Learn what you should focus on with results from a recent survey of data practitioners — they shared their top initiatives for modernizing their organization's data integration and management strategy.

Get our infographic highlighting what's top of mind for data experts, including:

- 51% want to expand data visualization, BI and analytics to more users.
- 30% want to reduce costs of data integration and management.
- 28% want a single, complete view of their data.